PreK Picture Games: Teacher Page

Three click-and-play picture games for ages 3 to 5. Children point, name and shout; no reading needed.

Before you start. Open the deck in Google Slides (or PowerPoint) and start the slideshow. The play button opens the games menu; the house button in the top corner always brings you back to it. Click only the pictures and buttons: a click on an empty spot moves on to the next slide. Your words for each slide are in the speaker notes. The games have no sound, so every right answer gets a happy creature and stars on the screen instead. Play one game or all three, in any order, for as long as the class enjoys it.

Memory Match

1. Pick board 1, 2 or 3 (different pictures on each, so you can play again).
2. Twelve cards lie face down. Every card has its own color and shape, so a child can call one: "The red star!"
3. Click that card. Everyone names the picture. Click the blue arrow to go back.
4. A second child calls a card. Same picture? A match! Cheer together. Different? Try to remember where both pictures are.
5. When all six pairs are found, click the yellow star on the board.

Shapes and Colors

1. Ask the round's question (12 rounds, list on page 2 and in the notes): "Where is the blue triangle?"
2. Children point and shout. One child shows you which shape, and you click it.
3. Right shape: a happy creature and stars. Click the green arrow for the next round.
4. Not that one: a friendly creature. Click the blue arrow and look again together.

Number Game

1. Count the pictures together, pointing at each one (10 rounds, numbers 1 to 10 in mixed order).
2. Everyone shouts the number. Then click the yellow question button.
3. The number appears, with the pictures in a row and a number under each. Count again to check.
4. Show the number with fingers, then click the green arrow.
